Profile & Strengths

A designer and developer proficient in both screen and print media, Kim espouses simplicity and consistency. He speaks for the user, whose needs inform the design and development process from start to finish.

Kim's design work includes websites, mobile and desktop apps, publications, logos and branding. He has worked as a freelancer, for agencies, and for his clients.

Design: Kim excels at optimizing user experience for mobile, web, and print media. Grids and good typography please!

Development: Kim quickly and accurately iterates from mockup or vision to reality, whether in pixels or ink.

Technology: Not content to only use technology, Kim loves to grok it. He supports software, hardware, and networking on his clients' desktop and mobile devices.
